DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 2/17/04 has been entered.
2. Applicants' arguments filed 2/17/04 have been considered but were not found persuasive.
3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
4. Claims 30-31 stand objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claims 1(f)-3, 7(f)-8, 10-18 & 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed

No proper antecedent basis nor conception in context with that described within the instant specification at the time of filing Applicants' invention exists for the recitation of "comprising the ligand binding site set forth as amino acids 4038-4547 of SEQ ID NO: 2". In contrast to Applicants' assertions on page 8 of the response, no such basis exists on page 17 of the specification. Nor does any such basis exist on page 35 of the specification, as it relates to SEQ ID NO: 2; thereby, constituting new matter.

6. Claims 1-3, 7-8, 10-18, 28-29, 32 & 34-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed, for the reason made of record in Paper NOs: 10 (mailed 2/13/02), 13 (mailed 10/18/02), 16 (mailed 4/07/03) & 21 (mailed 11/17/03), and as follows.

In contrast to Applicants' assertions on pages 8-10 of the response, the issue remains that the claims still recite "comprising" a fragment of SEQ ID NO: 2, in which these generic nucleotide sequences still merely require "comprising the ligand binding site... of SEQ ID NO: 2" (i.e., as it relates to claim 1g). As previously made of record, no allelic variants are described within the specification. Nor are any nucleic acid molecules that encompass different species of the Lepidopteran order/genus described (e.g., as it relates to claims 1, 28-29 & 37-38). Again, the claims still encompass undescribed molecules not limited to encoding the open reading frame depicted as SEQ ID NO: 2, nor limited to any described Ostrinia nubilalis receptor nucleic acid molecule. In addition, the claims encompass unknown and undescribed heterologous sequences, which include unknown and undescribed encoded "polypeptides of interest..." fused to polypeptides that merely "comprise the ligand binding site set forth as amino acids 4038-4547 of SEQ ID NO: 2", etc., which further include unknown and undescribed encoded generic "toxin receptors" (e.g., as it relates to claim 8). Therefore, the written description requirements under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph are still not reasonably met by the current claims; consistent with that held by the courts in Fiers v. Revel and Univ. California v. Eli Lilly and Co. previously made of record. Thus, Applicants' arguments are not persuasive for the reasons extensively made of record. See MPEP 2163.

In summary, the specification describes the sole Lepidopteran insect receptor nucleic acid from the species Ostrinia nubilalis of SEQ ID NO:1 (see page 3 of the specification). No other species of Lepidopteran insect receptor nucleic acids are described by which one of skill in the art could reasonably visualize what structurally constitutes this claimed genus of insect nucleic acid sequences. Thus, Applicants are clearly not in possession of the claimed genus of Lepidopteran insect receptor nucleic acid molecules claimed, for the reasons made of record.

7. Claims 7-8 & 33-36 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, because it remains ambiguous what metes and bounds constitute “at least one polypeptide of interest”, and which again is a relative term that defines nothing by itself; thereby, remaining indefinite.

In contrast to Applicants' assertions on pages 10-11 of the response, the recitation of “polypeptides of interest” by itself defines nothing; thereby, still being indefinite. Moreover, as previously made of record, although Applicants are permitted to be their own lexicographer, no term may be given meaning repugnant to the usual meaning of the term (see MPEP 608.01 (o)), in regards to the breadth encompassed by any term; especially when the specification fails to specifically define the metes and bounds this term otherwise encompasses. In other words, in contrast to Applicants' assertions, examples of putative encoded "polypeptides of interest" constitute an opened-ended, versus closed definition of this term, where the metes and bounds, therefore, are unknown. Thus, Applicants' arguments are moot.

8. Claims 1-3, 7-8, 10-18 & 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation of "set forth as amino acids 4038-4547 of SEQ ID NO: 2" makes no sense, because SEQ ID NO: 2 contains only 1717 amino acid residues.

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
